theless, Germany announces that she will act in accordance with the terms of these agreements.

The British charge that Germany violated provisions regarding the laying of mines is categorically denied in the article. Germany never used fishing beats or vessels flying neutral flags in laying mines; all were laid by war vessels. Neither has Germany laid mines in the high seas. All have been laid as near to English harbor entrances as the coast lines and character of the bottom permitted; all have been carefully anchered and neutral powers have been duly informed.

It is untrue, continues the paper, that Germany has barred neutral ports by laying mines. If some of the German mines laid on the English coast have been driven on the Dutch and Belgian coasts, where they have inflicted damage.

The main object of this new system of rediscounting is to prevent panics and other disturbing conditions, such as runs on banks.

The Rediscount Provision. As explained by John Skelton Williams, Controller of the Currency, the new act will work something like this: If a bank with $200,000 capital and deposits of $1,500,000 has loaned $1,200,000 to its customers on commercial oos to its customers on commercial paper and should encounter an unexpected run it would have the authority to rediscount with the Federal Reserve Bank of which it is a member notes, drafts and bills of exchange issued for agricultural, industrial or commercial purposes, having not more than ninet purposes, having not more than ninet, days to run, to any reasonable extent which may be approved by the Federal Reserve Bank to which application for such rediscounts may be made. This is in addition to the amount it may borrow on its capital.

Under the old system by which the borrowing canacity of a national bank borrowing capacity of a national bank was limited to the amount of its capi-tal, suspension would result if the law was strictly enforced if the amount of the bank's capital was not adequate to meet a run. The Federal Reserve Board has made provision for the re-discounting of six months' paper, if used for agricultural purposes, but it has limited the amount of this paper to 25 per cent of the assets of the bank

Great faith in the working of new system is held by President Wil-son, Secretary McAdoo and other of-ficers of the administration. They be-lieve that under its provisions business of all kinds will be stimulated.

Larkin Denounces Redmond and Asks Funds for Ireland to "Grasp Opportunity."

James Larkin, the Dublin labor leader, at a meeting held by the Clanna-Gael in Turn Hall last night in memory of the execution of Larkin, Allen and O'Brien, the "Manchester martyrs," denounced John Redmond and other Home Rule workers as "traitors to Ireland" because of their pro-British attitude in the war.

Larkin hinted vaguely at an uprising in Ireland against England and appealed for funds to buy arms and ammunition.
